INTERCLASS SERIES BASKETBALL GAMES ON AT HIGH SCHOOL

Sophomores Trounce Freshmen; Juniors Beat Seniors; Girls' Teams Play Today; Faculty in Splendid Sport Promotion.

The opening game of the Bisbee high interclass basketball season was played yesterday afternoon before a splendid crowd of students. The Sophomores slipped a win across with great ease, defeating the Freshies, 22 to 4. The Juniors had a little more trouble in trouncing the Seniors, 17 to 5. Instructor Shambaugh refereed the game and was obliged to inflict a large number of penalties for fouls made by the youngsters who were inclined to be too eager. Principal Sulder acted as official scorer and timekeeper.

Kristbaum distinguished himself, his work evincing rather more natural ability than that of his mates. Kristbaum appears to be the mainstay of the Juniors. McGinn of the Sophs looks very strong and it should be some time when the second-year team clashes with the Juniors.

The girls assisted the boys by rendition of cheers and different chants, also frantically applauding in various plays, some very clever. The Sophomores were very otherwise. As said before, the students are inclined to foul rather frequently. Referee Shambaugh was very strict in imposing penalties. His attitude, however, was worthy commendation, inasmuch as the object of the series is to develop the boys in clean athletic play and the strict adherence to basketball rules.

Following the conclusion of the interclass series before the Christmas holiday, the regular high school boys' team will be formed, ready for a hard season with outside combines. Development on the part of certain players not mentioned and correcting of certain starting errors of form will result in the acquisition of material for a rather classy team.

Principal Sulder is displaying his characteristic interest and very tactful assistance of the boys in their athletics. The attitude of Principal Sulder alone this line has made him a great favorite with the students and he certainly deserves a big measure of credit.

There are many much larger schools in the country which cannot boast the concerted faculty interest which encourages and maintains the sport on the high school plan existent here in Bisbee. As a result, there is that bond between teacher and pupil, sadly lacking in many secondary institutions. Harmony, sports, generally, in institutional effort and Bisbee is fortunate in the conditions existing at the high school and so well exemplified in the matter of wholesome athletic promotion.

Members of the different teams playing yesterday were: Seniors—Doherty (Capt.), Standridge, Verfurth, Stamper, Watkins, Shelp; Juniors—Kristbaum (Capt.), Davis, Loman, Williams, Gallagher; Sophomores—McGinn (Capt.), Walker, Jeffries, Multhead, Ralph; Freshmen—Thomas (Capt.), Campbell, Muir, Paze, Ursulio.

RUMANIAN ROMANCE ENDS IN FEDERAL COURT IN ARIZONA

Boy and Girl Sweethearts of Old Rumania Figure in Federal Court Where Man Is Charged With White Slavery.

TUCSON, Dec. 2.—More than thirty years ago in the city of Focsin, Rumania, there played together every day a little boy and girl. Their parents lived side by side. As they grew older they became sweethearts in a boy and girl way. Then they parted, believing that they would never meet again.

It would have been an impossible thing for them to glimpse in their childish and innocent minds, the strange events that the future had in store for them, or to imagine the curious situation in which they would find themselves in Tucson, Arizona, thousands of miles away, twenty years later.

The lad, Joe Shore, is under indictment on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act, while the girl,

Annie Stein, or, as she is called now, Esther Greenberg, is the prosecuting witness against him.

Mother Nursed "Annie."

The curious story of the happenings that led from the quiet old sleepy Rumanian city down to the present in Tucson was told by Shore to a visitor at the county jail yesterday evening.

"We were born in houses side by side," he said, "and my own mother nursed Annie when she was a baby. As little kids we played together every day. When we were old enough we went to the same school, for we were both Jews and did not attend the public schools. When we were ten or twelve we were sweethearts, but we were too young to think of getting married."

"Then my folks came to America and we parted never to meet again, as we believed."

Twenty Years Later.

The parties was not to be final, however, for twenty years later Shore met his sweetheart of many years before in Chicago. She had just separated from her husband, and the meeting with her former comrade was a welcome one. They realized their childhood romance in a relation not quite the same as they had planned in their innocent hearts many years before.

Later they drifted to Arizona, and in 1913 Shore was arrested on a charge of violating the Mann act. While in jail at Phoenix, Shore stated that he was taken with crazy spells and was placed in the asylum. Later when he was turned out of the asylum he was discharged from custody. He returned to Chicago and went to work for the Armour company.

"I never saw her again until about a month ago, when she sent for me in Chicago and showed me her subpoena to come to Arizona. I supposed the case was dropped and I refused to leave my work or to hide. I stayed until I was arrested in Chicago by a deputy United States marshal."

Shore thinks that he is being tried twice for the same offense and is under the impression that there is some misunderstanding about the matter.

Local federal officers state that Shore was not indicted two years ago, and that he was merely discharged from custody following his release from the asylum. He was indicted by the federal grand jury later and his arrest followed in Chicago, when he was located.

The charge is that he transported the woman from Clifton to Globe by way of New Mexico for immoral purposes. There is also a similar charge covering the trip from Chicago to El Paso.

EXCHANGING PRISONERS

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 2.—New exchanges in men, incapacitated for further fighting, began between France and Germany with the arrival here from Constance, Germany, of three hundred and seventy wounded and invalid French. The repatriation of twenty thousand French civilians who evacuated the northern departments for France will begin as soon as the Swiss committee intends to provide them, who are mostly women, with fresh clothing.

FEAR CUNNINGHAM LOST started for La Osa mine. The whereabouts of Villa are puzzling Carranza and United States officials. One report is that he has been executed.
